

What makes our toys different from the rest? They're Fun, Eco-Friendly, Safe and Made in America!

Our toys are fun to play with! Think of a 3D puzzle that becomes a truck when assembled. Designed for small hands, the toys are made with a bit of wiggle room, so that kids with developing motor skills are not frustrated. Our target age is 3 and up—just at the point where kids are outgrowing “baby toys” but aren’t quite ready for the precision required for more complicated building toys.

Parts from one truck can be mixed and matched with parts from the other trucks. Each truck is about 6 1/2 inches long. The Fire Truck has 5 parts, the Dump Truck has 4 parts and the Cargo Truck has 9 parts (because of all the cargo boxes!)

We've taken out 30% of the plastic and replaced it with organic materials.

Sawdust, to be exact, from US furniture mills and window factories. This is combined with safe, certified clean plastic pellets to make our toys. Though you can see the wood fibers in the plastic, the feel of the toy is silky smooth.

Colors are molded in, not painted on. So there's nothing to flake off. Sawdust varies from batch to batch, so our colors will vary slightly as well.

- No Phthalates, BPA, Lead or any other heavy metals are in our toys.
- The plastic part of our toys is Polypropylene, one of the safest plastics in existence.
- We also use a bio-based plastic in our packaging. Our goal is to balance eco-friendly with safety and sustainability, while making toys that are affordable and fun.

We design toys with a simple, old school wooden style. These are toys that look like they could have been hand crafted by a skilled wood worker, with some of the qualities of their full-size counterparts.

Made in America. Our toys are made using state of the art manufacturing processes and materials, right here in the USA. Everything we use to make our toys—every sourced material, every tool and every supplier we use is American. All the toy parts are made in Connecticut, half an hour from our factory, not halfway around the world. And everyone working on our toys is paid a living wage. That's important to us.

Eco-Friendly Toys. Made in America.

www.LukesToyFactory.com

Email: jim@lukestoyfactory.com

Call: Jim Barber: 212-598-4500

